Wild Tiger Health Centre Information Sheet

Disease threat: Toxocara malaysiensis

Hazard description: A nematode of the small intestine in the Superfamily Ascaridoidea genetically similar to T. cati (Le et al. 2016).

Host species: T. malaysiensis has been reported from domestic cats in Malaysia, China and Vietnam (Le et al. 2016). Potential zoonosis.

Pathogenesis: No data found, presume similar to T. cati.

Diagnosis: Thick-shelled eggs in faeces.

Free-ranging tiger occurrence: No reports found.

Distribution: Malaysia, China and Vietnam (Le et al. 2016).

Assumptions: None.

Limitations: Data poor.